

LSI casework is specially designed for heavy-use environments, like science classrooms and industrial or research laboratories. In addition to durability, our thousands of design options enable you to meet the unique functional needs of the laboratory.

LSI offers countertops in chemical resistant laminates or epoxy resin if required to withstand harsh environments. Featured in the last section in this catalog, are a wide range of industry standard accessories needed to complete any laboratory project.

Durability, function, ease of maintenance, plus an almost limitless range of laminate colors and patterns, make LSI casework your best choice for your laboratory.
